

Machine Shop

MC Machine is an owner-operated machine shop. Our small size allows us to accomodate orders quickly, efficiently, and at a competitive shop rate. Located near Phoenix, AZ, MC Machine was established by Michael Croke in 1998.

Michael graduated from the University of Arizona in 1993 with a BS in Mechanical Engineering. Immediately upon entering the work force, he was working directly with CNC machines in production settings, including working for end users, distributors and builders of CNC machine tools. Michael has worked as a production engineer, applications engineer for a machine tool builder and as a tooling engineer for a microwave connector company. His work experience allows him an understanding of aspects of manufacturing beyond what may be found in the average job shop.

Due to his engineering background and years of experience, you can count on exacting attention to detail and exceptional service regardless of your needs.
